new, third pavilion
rters are waiting for the building to be finished. We hope soon to have comfortable, modern lodgings for all of our girls; at that time we will commence a refurbishment of the old dormitory, which will house the elementary and middle schools.

Another challenge ahead of us will be the construction of new space for the vocational schools and high school. These schools currently are located in a temporary barrack which was intended to serve as a short-term interim solution to the Institute's space shortage. This building does not currently meet basic safety requirements. Fund-raising for this project was initiated by the father of one of our alumnae.

The work of Laski is well-known to special education experts, the blind, and Poles around the world. Our ambition is to see that work continue and develop.

We count on your understanding of our needs, and on your continuing help.
